IS YOUR COMPANY PREPARED FOR A DISASTER OR EVEN A PANDEMIC?

Have you considered the consequences of not being ready such as long term revenue impact, legal liability, and damage to your corporate brand? If not, you are not alone — most studies show that a surprising proportion of businesses have not engaged in any sort of pandemic and/or disaster planning.

HOW TIG CAN HELP YOU PREPARE

TIG can assist your company in finding a communications solutions that provide alternative ways to work — lowering costs, improving productivity, and providing real strategic advantage. The good news is that these same solutions are also perfectly tailored to helping your business prepare for a pandemic. These solutions will help you implement several pandemic preparedness best practices, including:

- Social distancing and flexible work sites
- Enabling a replacement workforce
- Restricted travel policy
- Employee communication
- Geographic shift of key operations
